Grow With Me Baby Plan

Your babies grow up so fast! I know you have heard that before and you take every opportunity to keep those precious moments tucked away when you create scrapbooks and fill out those baby books. I want to create for you a portrait that is more than a photograph – it's a priceless emotional statement of your child's personality.

A Worry Free Experience

There is no rushing you in and out of the studio. I want you to have the best portraits and allow time to take a break if needed so that your child can be refreshed. I will spend extra time becoming friends with your child to make him or her feel comfortable. This allows me to capture the most natural expressions. You can help personalize your portrait session by bringing along items that are special to your child such as a teddy bear or favorite doll. I also have a lot of props available – blocks, toys, tutus and more!

Planning For Your Session

It is generally recommended to plan your maternity portrait session in the late second or early third trimester (27-32 weeks). You want to be clearly showing, but still feel comfortable enough to enjoy the session.

Your tiny miracle has arrived! Newborn portraits should be captured within the first 10 days of life. About 6 weeks before your due date, contact me and we will stay in close contact. Even while you are still in the hospital after the birth, we should discuss setting a session date the following week.

The day of your newborn's first portrait session, please try to keep your baby awake as much as possible and feed the baby just before you leave. This will help insure your newborn sleeps well during the session so that we can get those beautiful sleepy baby images. Feel free to bring special items you want to include in your session. I recommend you dress yourself in layers because the studio is warm and cozy to keep baby sleepy and comfortable. Also, don't forget to wear something nice because we always like to include mom and dad in the portraits.

Birthday cake smash time! Your child's first birthday portraits can include a cake smash. You can make your own or purchase a small 6" white cake. Feel free to bring extras like balloons and a hat. Diaper covers, a bib, or tutus for girls are all cute things to wear for this extra special occasion. Don't worry about making a mess – that is the funniest part!

Tips and Tricks – Newborn

I always recommend that your photographer for your newborn is chosen before your pregnancy reaches the eighth month– I pencil in your baby’s due date and once your little one arrives we will finalize the session date. Because labor isn’t known for being predictable, I always keep a few different times available for my newborns so we can get your little one in during the first 10 days.

The day of your session... if this is your first newborn, plan to leave plenty of time to get you and baby out of the house! Most new moms are surprised by how much preparation it can take to leave the house for that first outing– and usually the first outing is either the doctor’s office for a weight check or to the newborn photographer!

Once you arrive, I will help you bring in anything you need for your little one from the car. Once you are inside we will get you comfy and take the clothes off the baby and loosen the diaper and wrap your tiny miracle up so he/she is comfy too. Then you can feed the baby until there are asleep.

Depending on the baby and her tolerance level, I will use up to 3 different fabric backgrounds and a variety of headbands or hats. We may add on a prop at the end of the session (bucket, basket, etc), but that is only if your little one is still happy to be here. If you have a vision of your little one, please let me know prior to your session so I can get that set prepared to use first. I encourage you to bring special items with you as well to include in the portrait. I also may include the parents in the photos so please be prepared to be in the photographs. I suggest bringing a black or white shirt.

If your little one grows hungry during our session, I will happily take a feeding break! If your newborn has an “accident” on my fabrics, don’t worry! Everything is washable, and every item used is laundered after your session — we simply clean the mess up and move on!

-Cake Smash-

~ Find a store that sells 6 inch Birthday Cakes near your home. Walmart or Kroger sells very nice ones. You can feel free to make your own too.

~ The morning of your cake smashing session – please leave your cake out on the counter so it can come to room temperature. This allows the icing to get nice and soft and mushy...making it much easier for your 1 year old to make a mess of the cake!

~ What to wear?? A simple diaper cover looks great. Tutu's on little girls are adorable! I have a pink one or you can bring your own. Cute t-shirts / Birthday t-shirts look great. A diaper and birthday bib or birthday hat is adorable too.

~ Feel free to bring extras like balloons, etc.

~ A couple more things for the session...please bring extra wipes and an extra outfit to wear home. I have a bathtub for you to use if needed.
